

Sebastian Della

From: Sebastian Della
Sent: Thursday, July 29, 2010 1:47 PM
To: Gabriel Gluck
Subject: RE: Stand Alones from Strawberry Fields Concert

Well done Gabel

From: Gabriel Gluck
Sent: Thursday, July 29, 2010 1:46 PM
Subject: Stand Alones from Strawberry Fields Concert
Importance: High

Note to Editors: The Wednesday night concert series continues at Union County's Oak Ridge Park, culminating in MusicFest in September. The photographs include residents from Cranford and Colonia. Oak Ridge Park is in Clark. Higher resolution copies of these photographs are available on request. Stories and photos provided by Union County Feature Services do not require attribution. They may be used in their entirety or simply as source material for another story.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact Gabe Gluck at (908) 527-4911 or cell, (908) 370-8424. If you require any additional comment from Union County officials, please contact Seb D'Elia at (908) 527-4419.

FANS TURN OUT TO RELIVE THE BEATLES

Cranford

A PRIME SPOT...with plenty of shade was what Cranford residents Mike and Judy Pender, and their friend, Maureen Jousset, center, of Somerset, were looking for to enjoy Strawberry Fields, one of the Wednesday night concerts sponsored by Union County. The three made sure to get to Oak Ridge Park in Clark early to claim their spot and relax before the concert got underway. The concert series continues through the month.

Sherpa

TRAVELLING IN STYLE...Isabella Oliveira, 6, and her little sister, Isabella, Gabriella, 17 months, are pulled by their father Augusto, on the way to the ice cream vendor at Union County's Oak Ridge Park in Clark. The Colonia family—Mom, aka, Evelyn Oliveira, off-camera—also had to walk. They were part of the huge crowd that turned out for Strawberry Fields, a Beatles cover band. The Wednesday night concert series continues through the end of the month, culminating with MusicFest in September.

USA

THE BRITISH INVASION...returned to Union County's Oak Ridge Park in Clark this week with Strawberry Fields, a Beatles cover band. The Wednesday night concert series continues through the end of the month, culminating with MusicFest in September.